The previous two years have been transformative ones for Humanities Washington. Under the leadership of new Executive Director Julie Ziegler, who came on board in 2009, the organization focused its purpose and extended its reach. A rigorous strategic planning process in 2010 led to the refinement of our mission last year:

Humanities Washington sparks conversation and critical thinking using story as a catalyst, nurturing thoughtful and engaged communities across our state.

With story and conversation at its core, this new mission informed the evolution of our programming throughout the state. Changes to core programs like Family Reading and Speakers Bureau brought conversation to the fore. Special initiatives like Community Conversations and Beyond Talking Points brought diverse groups together to discuss their commonalities. And exciting new programs like Think & Drink brought humanities programs to unexpected venues and new audiences.

In every case, the humanities were used as a lens to bring communities together: to discuss, to engage, to grow.

We are excited to share details about Humanities Washington's many successes in 2010 and 2011 in this Biennial Report. But we are more excited still with what's to come. With our 40th anniversary in 2013, Humanities Washington is positioned for its most dynamic, engaging year yet. Make sure to check out our website www.Humanities.org and online magazine www.SparkMag.org for the latest news.

Our work would not be possible without you. Thank you for your continued support!

John A. Baule
Board Chairman

In 2010 and 2011, Humanities Washington was involved with staging MORE THAN 1300 PUBLIC EVENTS – that's almost two events each day!

PROGRAM REPORTS

Humanities Washington's mission is to spark conversation and critical thinking using story as a catalyst, nurturing thoughtful and engaged communities across our state. Our programs are how we make this happen; some highlights from 2010 and 2011:

Core Programs

FAMILY READING

Our Family Reading program uses reading, storytelling and discussion to explore cultural and ethical themes presented in children's literature, and emphasizes the importance of families reading together. Programs are delivered in partnership with educators and libraries from Snohomish County to Spokane and primarily serve at-risk children and families. In 2010 and 2011, Humanities Washington's Family Reading program reached more than 6,700 children.

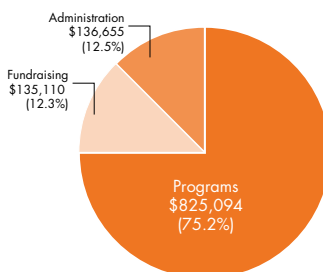

GRANTS

Our grants program assists local organizations in creating opportunities for communities to come together and discuss important issues using the humanities. Funds have been directed to organizations large and small, supporting public programs that increase and enhance community dialogue.

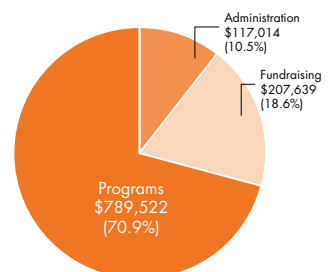

In 2010 and 2011, Humanities Washington awarded 120 grants totalling $425,000. These grants allowed Humanities Washington's partners to stage almost 1,000 events and serve more than 440,000 Washingtonians.

2010 & 2011 FINANCIALS

2010 EXPENSES $1,096,859

2011 EXPENSES $1,114,175

Core Programs Continued

SPEAKERS BUREAU

Drawing from a pool of leading cultural experts and scholars, Humanities Washington's Speakers Bureau provides free lecture-and-conversation events for community partners to offer local audiences. Topics range from history to culture to current events. In 2010 and 2011, Humanities Washington sponsored more than 250 events in libraries, schools, museums and historical societies, retirement homes, community centers, civic organizations and on the radio, reaching nearly 147,500 people throughout the state.

THINK & DRINK

Launched in 2011, our Think & Drink program brings hosted conversations on provocative topics and new ideas to pubs and tasting rooms around the state. Each free event features lively, moderated conversations between topical experts and the audience. The inaugural schedule tackled topics from Prohibition to urban planning, and sparked lively conversations about morality, religion, history and politics at venues in Seattle and Yakima.

TRAVELING EXHIBITS

Working in partnership with large historical organizations, Humanities Washington brings museum-quality exhibits and dynamic programming to underserved areas and surprising venues around the state.

In 2010 and 2011, we teamed with the Smithsonian Institute and local partners from Orcas Island to St. John to bring exhibits and programming to more than 221,200 attendees.

Other Offerings

BEDTIME STORIES

For more than a decade, Humanities Washington has hosted this annual literary celebration and fundraiser, featuring critically acclaimed Northwest writers unveiling new short stories penned especially for the evening. Bedtime Stories raised more than $110,000 in 2010 and $118,000 in 2011. Participating authors included Carol Cassella, Jamie Ford, Charles Johnson, Stephanie Kallos, Jim Lynch, Heather McHugh, Nancy Pearl, Susan Rich, Jennie Shortridge and Garth Stein.

In 2010, Humanities Washington released Night Lights, a collection of 22 stories and essays read at Bedtime Stories events from 1999-2009.

BEYOND TALKING POINTS

This three-part series in Bellevue used art, film and conversation to examine the issues around immigration from various perspectives, promoting shared understanding between the area's diverse communities.

COMMUNITY CONVERSATIONS

During eight moderated discussions in Everett, Renton and Burien, expert panels drew from disciplines including economics, law and history to promote discourse and shed new light on polarizing topics.

HUMANITIES WASHINGTON AWARD

The Humanities Washington Award recognizes outstanding and exemplary achievement in the public humanities. The 2010 award honored Richard "Dick" Watts for his work with Roslyn's historic cemeteries. The 2011 award honored folk singer and storyteller Hank Cramer of Winthrop.

In 2010 and 2011, Humanities Washington's program offerings reached EVERY ONE OF THE STATE'S 39 COUNTIES.

IN 2010 AND 2011:

PRAISE FOR OUR SPEAKERS BUREAU PROGRAM:

*“Humanities
 Washington’s Speakers Bureau brings knowledgeable scholars
 to present on topics of interest to rural communities. The presentation we hosted was dynamic and fascinating.
 I know that it sparked discussion, not just that evening at the presentation, but in the days following.”*

—JENNIFER ASHBY,
 DIRECTOR, ASOTIN

AND SPARK CONVERSATION WITH US:

 @HumanitiesWA |  Humanities Washington

Humanities Washington is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization in Washington state.

PRAISE FOR OUR FAMILY READING PROGRAM:

“(Humanities Washington’s Family Reading program) supports Spokane Public Library’s mission well by facilitating conversations between children and their caregivers around books and achieves literacy gains that will stay with the participants over time. We are very excited about the opportunity to bring enthusiasm about books, reading and library resources to families that are not traditional library users.”

— PAT PARTOVI, DIRECTOR OF THE SPOKANE PUBLIC LIBRARY
